KIRKLAND LAKE GOLD INC.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

APRIL 30, 2008 AND 2007

(EXPRESSED IN CANADIAN DOLLARS)

1. Operations, going concern, and measurement uncertainty

Operations

Kirkland Lake Gold Inc. (the company) owns gold mining and milling operations in Kirkland Lake, Canada, which were inactive when acquired in December 2001.

Going concern

While the accompanying financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis, which contemplates the realization of assets and liquidation of liabilities during the normal course of operations, certain historical adverse conditions and events cast substantial doubt upon the validity of this assumption.

During the years ended April 30, 2008 and 2007, the company incurred losses of $3.3 million and $8.4 million, respectively. Cash flow required for operating activities, including exploration costs charged to operations of $8.7 million, aggregated $4.9 million for the two years in total. The funds required to continue operations and exploration activities during this period have been financed primarily from the issue of equity.

At April 30, 2008, the company has working capital of $30.1 million.

Management estimates that these funds, together with cash flow from targeted operations, will be sufficient to meet the company's obligations and capital expenditure plans for the next twelve months.

Differences will occur between actual results and those targeted by management, and those differences may be material. It is possible that the operations will not generate sufficient cash flow for the company to continue in the normal course without funding being provided from outside sources.

Management has been successful in obtaining sufficient funding for its operating and capital exploration requirements in the past and believes that it will be able to do so in the future, if necessary. There is, however, no assurance that such funding will be available to the company, or that it will be available on terms which are acceptable to management. If this does not occur, the company may not be able to continue as a going concern.

These financial statements do not reflect the adjustments to the carrying values of assets and liabilities and the reported expenses and balance sheet classifications that would be necessary were the going concern assumption inappropriate, and these adjustments could be material.

Measurement uncertainty

The company's history of operating losses from mining operations indicate at April 30, 2008, that the recorded costs for mineral properties and related fixed assets may not be recoverable. Management estimates, using a constant gold price of $802 per ounce and operating costs similar to historical costs incurred over the past year, that annual production of approximately 48,833 ounces in fiscal 2008 and between 62,000 and 78,000 ounces for each year thereafter would be required to cover costs of operations and estimated capital expenditures required for mining operations. To date the company has not been successful in achieving and sustaining this rate of production.

There is significant uncertainty associated with the ability of the company to achieve the increase in production or reduction in costs necessary to recover the carrying value of the mineral property and related assets. Gold price or Canadian/U.S. dollar exchange rate movements, the success of the company in realizing the benefit of the production improvements noted above, changes in the costs of labour and the other costs or unforeseen production difficulties all would have an impact on the ability of the company to achieve its goals from operations. The amount of working capital currently available for use by the company could mean that a minor adverse development could have a significant impact on the company's operations and ability to recover costs.

2. Significant accounting policies

Generally accepted accounting principles

These financial statements are prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principals (GAAP) in Canada.

Adoption of new accounting standards

Effective May 1, 2007, the company adopted Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants ("CICA") Handbook Section 1530, Comprehensive Income, CICA Handbook Section 3855, Financial Instruments - Recognition and Measurement, CICA Handbook Section 3862, Financial Instruments, Disclosures, CICA Handbook Section 3863, Financial Instruments, Presentation, CICA Handbook Section 3865, Hedges, CICA Handbook Section 3251, Equity, CICA Handbook Section 1535, Capital Disclosures and CICA Handbook Section 1506, Accounting Changes.

The initial adoption of these new standards had no material impact on the company's financial statements.

(a) Financial instruments - recognition and measurement

Under these new standards, all financial instruments included on the balance sheet are either classified as held for trading, held-to-maturity, available-for-sale, loans and receivables or other financial liabilities. Financial instruments classified as held to maturity, loans and receivables, and other financial liabilities are measured at amortized cost. Instruments classified as held for trading are measured at fair value with unrealized gains and losses recognized on the statement of operations.

The company's financial instruments consist of cash, short-term investments, accounts receivable, security deposits, restricted cash and accounts payable and accrued liabilities, as follows:

Cash and cash equivalents	Held for trading
Short-term investments
Mutual funds	Held for trading
Treasury bills	Held to maturity
Accounts receivable	Loans and receivables
Security deposits	Held to maturity
Restricted cash	Held for trading
Accounts payable and accrued liabilities	Other financial liabilities

Fair values of these financial instruments, unless otherwise noted, approximate their carrying values.

KIRKLAND LAKE GOLD INC.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

APRIL 30, 2008 AND 2007

(EXPRESSED IN CANADIAN DOLLARS)

(b) Comprehensive income

Comprehensive income is the change in shareholder's equity during a period from transactions and events from sources other than the company's shareholders. In accordance with this new standard the company now reports a statement of operations, comprehensive income or loss and accumulated other comprehensive income or loss is added to the shareholders' equity section of the balance sheet when components to be recognized in the comprehensive income or loss exist. There were no material components to be recognized in comprehensive income or loss during the year. As a result, net loss for the period approximates comprehensive loss.

(c) Hedges

The new standard specifies the criteria under which hedge accounting can be applied and how hedge accounting can be executed. The company does not have any hedging items.

(d) Capital disclosures

The new standard requires that an entity disclose information that enables users of its financial statements to evaluate an entity's objectives, policies and processes for managing capital, including disclosures of any externally imposed capital requirements and the consequences of non-compliance. The company's disclosures are affected but there is no effect on the company's results or financial position (Note 13).

(e) Accounting Changes

The new standard prescribes the criteria for changing accounting policies, together with the accounting treatment and disclosure of changes in accounting policies, changes in accounting estimates and correction of errors. The standard did not affect the company's financial position or results.

The following Canadian accounting pronouncements were issued and not yet adopted by the company:

- CICA Handbook Section 1400, General Standards of Financial Statement Presentation. The new standard clarifies what constitutes fair presentation in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting standards, going concern assessment and disclosures and comparative information disclosures. This standard is expected to affect the company's disclosures but is not expected to have a significant impact on the company's financial position or results.
- CICA Handbook Section 3031, Inventories. The new section prescribes inventory measurement and disclosure standards. This standard is expected to affect the company's disclosures but is not expected to have a significant impact on the company's financial position or results.
- CICA Handbook Section 3064, Goodwill and Intangible Assets. Management is currently assessing the impact of this new standard.

Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the year. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include cash and short-term investments with an initial maturity of 90 days or less at the date of acquisition.

KIRKLAND LAKE GOLD INC.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

APRIL 30, 2008 AND 2007

(EXPRESSED IN CANADIAN DOLLARS)

Investments

The company holds investments in various funds of a private fund company and Government of Canada Treasury Bills with maturity dates greater than 90 days at the date of acquisition but less than 365 days.

Inventories

Dore bars and gold in process, and stockpile ore are recorded at the lower of average production cost and net realizable value. Production costs include all direct costs plus fixed costs associated with the mine site. The company uses a rolling period average cost to value the inventory of gold on hand. Mine operating supplies are valued at average cost less allowance for obsolescence.

Mineral properties and deferred exploration costs

The company expenses exploration expenditures and near term ore development costs as incurred. Property acquisition costs and longer term development costs incurred to expand ore reserves are deferred and depleted on a units-of-production basis over proven and probable reserves which are currently accessible by the company. Management's estimate of gold price, recoverability, proven and probable reserves, operating capital and reclamation costs are subject to risk and uncertainties affecting the recoverability of the company's investment in mineral properties. The company assesses capitalized costs for recoverability on an annual basis or more frequently if changes in circumstances suggest that possible impairment may exist. Where information is available and conditions suggest impairment, estimated future net cash flows are calculated using estimated future prices, reserves and operating, capital and reclamation costs on an undiscounted basis. If the net carrying value of the property exceeds the estimated future net cash flows, the property will be written down to fair value.

Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment costs are recorded at cost and amortized on a straight line basis over the following terms:

Computer equipment	3 years
Vehicles	5 years
Mine and mill equipment	10 years
Buildings	10 years
Capital spares	2 years

Asset retirement obligation

Future obligations to retire an asset or property are recognized and recorded as a liability at fair value as at the time the asset is acquired or the event occurs giving rise to such an obligation. At each reporting period, asset retirement obligations are increased to reflect the interest element (Accretion expense) considered in the initial fair value of the measurement of the liabilities. In addition, an asset retirement cost is added to the carrying amount of the related asset and amortized over the life of the asset. The capitalized asset retirement cost is amortized on the same basis as the related asset and along with the accretion expense, is included in net income.

Revenue recognition

Revenue is recognized on title transfer of the gold to purchasers which occurs when the gold is received by the purchaser. Adjustments to accounts receivable, if any, between the date of title transfer and the settlement date are recorded when determined.

KIRKLAND LAKE GOLD INC.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

APRIL 30, 2008 AND 2007

(EXPRESSED IN CANADIAN DOLLARS)

The company from time to time enters into commodity contracts to minimize its exposure to fluctuations in the price of gold. Any gains or losses are recorded in revenue.

Foreign currency translation

The company generally seeks to sell its gold in Canadian dollars. To the extent these transactions are denominated in foreign currencies, they are translated into their Canadian dollar equivalents at exchange rates prevailing at the transaction date. Gains and losses arising from restatement of foreign currency monetary assets and liabilities and transactions are included in the statement of operations.

Income taxes

The company uses the liability method of accounting for future income taxes. Under this method of tax allocation, future income tax assets and liabilities are determined based on the differences between the financial reporting and tax bases of assets and liabilities and are measured using the substantively enacted tax rates and laws that are expected to be in effect in the periods in which the future income tax assets or liabilities are expected to be settled or realized. A valuation allowance is provided to the extent that it is more likely than not that future income tax assets will not be realized.

Stock based compensation

The company has a stock-based compensation plan which is described in Note 10. The company accounts for stock options using the fair value method. Under this method, compensation expense for stock options granted is measured at fair value at the grant date using the Black-Scholes valuation model and recognized over the vesting period of the options granted. Consideration paid on the exercise of stock options is credited to capital stock.

Flow-through shares

The company from time to time issues flow through shares to finance a portion of its Canadian exploration program. Pursuant to the terms of flow through share agreements, the tax deductions associated with the expenditures are renounced to the subscribers. To recognize the foregone tax benefits, share capital is reduced and a future income tax liability is recognized as the related expenditures are renounced. This future income tax liability is then reduced by the recognition of previously unrecorded future income tax assets on unused taxes losses.

Loss per common share

Loss per share is calculated using the weighted average number of common shares issued and outstanding during the year.

The company follows the treasury stock method in the calculation of diluted earnings per share. As the company is incurring losses, basic and diluted loss per share are the same since including the exercise of outstanding stock options and share purchase warrants in the diluted loss per share calculation would be anti-dilutive.

Comparative figures

Certain comparative figures have been reclassified to conform with the presentation of the current period.

8. Asset retirement obligation

The company has filed a reclamation and site restoration plan in connection with the Kirkland Lake properties and these plans are being reviewed by the Ontario Ministry of Northern Development and Mining (MNDM). The estimated total costs of reclamation and site restoration at April 30, 2008 are $4,452,597 and financial assurance has been provided to the MNDM by way of a letter of credit in the amount of $4,452,597 (Note 3). In prior years assurance was provided by way of a mine closure bond.

A reconciliation for asset retirement obligation is as follows:

	2008	2007
Balance - Beginning of year	$ 2,700,480	$ 1,845,780
Accretion	162,028	110,748
Revisions in estimated cash flows	-	743,952
Balance - End of year	$ 2,862,508	$ 2,700,480

During 2007, the company reviewed total proven and probable reserves, which resulted in the extension of the remaining life of the mine and, consequently, the extension of the cash flow projection and reduction of the asset retirement obligations and mineral properties. This reduction of the asset retirement obligation was offset in the year by the increase to the company estimate of the total cost of reclamation and site restoration, resulting in a net increase in the obligations at April 30, 2007.
